ADVOCACY HIGHLIGHTS

SILENCE BREAKER + FOUNDER - HIRE SURVIVORS HOLLYWOOD

Founded by actor, writer, filmmaker, and Weinstein Survivor Sarah Ann Masse, Hire Survivors Hollywood is an initiative that is working to end career retaliation against survivors of sexual violence in the entertainment industry by encouraging those in positions of power to pledge to hire Survivors and Silence Breakers.

We are creating a pipeline of opportunities for survivors- both above and below the line- to find work in an industry that has both overtly and covertly retaliated against them for the harm their abusers have caused.

We are proud to have secured auditions, interviews, and jobs for many survivors.

SARAH ANN MASSE

An invisibly disabled multi-hyphenate, and one of the first women to come forward about Weinstein abuse, Sarah writes patriarchy smashing scripts with a whole lot of heart. As a comedy writer/performer who worked with A-listers and as a public advocate for fellow survivors of sexual abuse, Sarah has seen all the facets of the industry. With a diverse portfolio of romcoms, half-hours, dramedy projects and holiday movies showing a writer who's comfortable navigating between format and genre, Sarah is ready for representation.

WHO'S THAT GIRL?

Sarah Ann Masse is a hilarious and heartfelt woman on a mission; as a queer, disabled, survivor of sexual violence, she is not only continuing the trend of breaking stereotypes with her positive, smart sense of humor, but she does so while drawing attention to the unhealthy social norms and boxes that our society places historically marginalized folks in.

Sarah is currently playing Pulitzer Prize winning NY Times Journalist Emily Steel in Universal Pictures "She Said". "She Said" stars Carey Mulligan and Zoe Kazan and is directed by EMMY Winner Maria Schrader. Sarah has recently been honored with an AFI Award for being part of the creative ensemble of "She Said", winning "Movie of the Year" for their "contribution to America's cultural legacy". Other projects include a #MeToo drama she co-wrote called 'R Culture' (starring Lisa Ray from Amazon Prime's 'Four More Shots Please'), 'Tristan & Kelly' which is based off her award winning short of the same name that co-stars 'Game of Thrones' Toby Sebastian, 'A More Perfect Union' in which she gets to portray a character who shares some of her actual chronic illnesses, 'Through The Rinse' a Latinx crime caper, and a pilot presentation for the series 'Largo'.

Having trained at The Atlantic Theater Company and UCB, graced the stage at places like The Williamstown Theater Festival, American Shakespeare Theater, and Second City Hollywood, and with over 100 screen performances and dozens of audiobooks under her belt, Sarah is a seasoned and versatile stage and screen actress. She was recently cast in a Broadway-bound musical called 'The Right Girl' (songs by Diane Warren with a book by Louisette Geiss and Howard Kagan) which was successfully filmed over Zoom during the lockdown and will be heading to Broadway (fingers crossed) in 2023.

Previously, Sarah worked with her frequent collaborator, Jason Mraz, to co-write, star in, and produce the only scripted segment of his documentary, 'Have It All: The Movie' which is now streaming on Amazon Prime, as well as several promotional videos which helped Mraz sell out 'The Hollywood Bowl'. Her British-American love triangle rom-com web series 'S'N'M' (which stars 'Downton Abbey's Matt Barber) has released their first few episodes with more coming soon, and her British-American married sketch duo, 'We Are Thomasse' (frequently featured on Funny or Die) has released an 'Advent Comedy Calendar' which required Sarah and her husband Nick Afka Thomas to write, perform, and produce 25 sketches in 25 days, adding to their existing catalog of over 100 sketches, 15 million views, and their indie pilot, 'The Real Founding Fathers of America' which hilariously reveals the Founders for the petty, privileged, problematic, men that they actually were. On top of all their online success, We Are Thomasse toured all over the world with their live sketch show and had a monthly slot at The Second City Hollywood until COVID put a pause to their live performances.

In addition to all of her acting successes, Sarah has recently completed two new pilot scripts and several features. Sarah has a shopping agreement for one of her features with The Cartel and was recently endorsed and recommended by Coverfly. Additionally, Masse has a shopping agreement for several of her TV projects with Nightfox Entertainment, including the amazing female led YA fantasy book series, "The Chronicles of Kerrigan". The books, which have sold over 3 million copies, are written by W.J. May and the TV series has been written and developed by Sarah Ann Masse. "The Chronicles of Kerrigan" is currently being pitched to networks, streamers, and studios as Sarah and her team finalize the right partnership to bring this fun, fantastical, feminist project to the screen.
